Rev. Lindemann To Discuss City Council Act At Sunday Service

Following up his searching denunciation of the city council Monday evening, Rev. C. G. Lindemann, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church, corner Ninth street and Ninth avenue, has announced that on next Sunday evening, June 21, at 7:15 o'clock, he will discuss from his pulpit the question "Is There an Inevitable Government in Control of Civic Affairs in Richmond?"

The minister's exhortation of the city council was delivered in the council chamber after the council had unanimously rejected a proposed ordinance banning all Sunday dancing and skating in Richmond. He announced he has several questions in his mind that have arisen from the method of procedure at the city council meeting.

Mr. Lindemann and other members of the Church Fellowship of Richmond, he says, are wondering why things happened just as they did. They want to know, according to Lindemann, why certain facts were not permitted to be brought forward for consideration before final action was taken by the city council in voting down the measure sponsored by the Church Fellowship.

Mr. Lindemann's accusation that they were debarrd from presenting their arguments to the city council before the final action was taken, is denied by Mayor J. H. Plate, who states that the ministers would not have been denied the right to speak had they asked for it.

These and similar questions will be discussed at the Wesley church services Sunday evening. A special music program will be given by the Richmond Vocalists.

More Rooms Are Needed For Big Convention Here

With the time of the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment drawing near, Honor Post of Richmond is completing the final arrangements for the three big days next week. The housing proposition is still causing some worry to the committee and it is believed that it will be found necessary to send many of the delegates and visitors to neighboring cities to sleep.

A good many residents of Richmond have put rooms at the disposal of the veterans for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, but still there is a great shortage. Offers of sleeping quarters will be gratefully received by the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, through Ralph Wood at Memorial hall, the telephone number of which is Richmond 465.

The meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Memorial hall last night was an enthusiastic one. Ten new members were initiated, before a large number of local members as well as many visitors from Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. It was reported that Department Commander Nathan Combs of the American Legion will be in Richmond for the opening session of the encampment. O. A. Roberts, department commander of the Spanish War Veterans will also be here.

Word has been received that L. A. Gregory, lieutenant governor of the State of Nevada, will be one of the delegates from the Reno Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and will bring with him a large delegation.

Progressive Plan on New Projects and New Construction To Be Carried Out

After careful analysis of the accounts of the department, and a reasonable estimate of funds from gas and motor license fees, W. F. Nixon, secretary of the California Highway Commission, has issued the following as an authentic statement of the financial probabilities for the coming two year period:

The commission expects to carry on a progressive plan of reconstruction and maintenance during the biennium. With approximately $11,000,000 a year for these purposes, a well developed program can and will be carried out. Of this sum available for reconstruction and maintenance, approximately $7,500,000 will come from the two cent gas tax and $3,500,000 from the motor vehicle license fees.

FOR RECONSTRUCTION

The engineering department is prepared to take up the various projects over the State where the reconstruction needs are most pressing, and from time to time contracts will be awarded and the work pushed to completion. Motorists will recall many evidences of the reconstruction program in evidence over the State, and will, no doubt, recognize the improved condition of the maintained roads.

Street and Fire Hydrant Reports From El Cerrito

The board of trustees of El Cerrito have received a letter from the state highway commission stating that the traffic station at the corner of San Pablo avenue and Cutting boulevard has been removed as it was a menace to motorists and that lines had been painted on the highway instead. The communication was read at the meeting Monday night.

A communication was also read from the Key System Transit company stating that the roadway between the company tracks on Potrero avenue would be repaired in the near future.

The East Bay Water company reported to the board of trustees that they had installed new fire hydrants at the corner of Lexington and Lincoln and Lexington and Eureka streets. The installation was made on June 6.

The application of Mrs. J. W. Schoute to have an arc light placed at the intersection of San Pablo and Central avenues was referred to Light Commissioner Charles Zimmerman.

44 Known Dead In Train Crash As Engine Hits Storm Washout

By HAROLD VIVIAN
HACKETTSTOWN, N. J., June 16.—The last of known dead as a result of the appalling train wreck on the Delaware Lackawanna & Western railroad near here early today had mounted to forty-four tonight.

More than 100 injured were rushed to hospitals at nearby towns, where many died during the day and others are so mangled they are not expected to recover.

Speeding through the terrific thunderstorm the train, a special of seven cars from Chicago, was brought to a crashing stop by gravel that had washed across the track from a road way close to the little hamlet of Rockport.

Striking the gravel, the locomotive left the track, overturned, and fell down a slight embankment. Driven by its own momentum, the first car shot across the overturned engine, fell athwart it, and smashed with its load of human beings. The second car struck the first with terrific impact, and overturned. The next car, the third, buckled and bent, its front striking the car ahead, while the car behind doubled it up so that it resembled a horse shoe.

There ensued scenes of indescribable horror. The storm continued, vivid flashes of lightning alone illuminating the debris from which shrieks and screams rose in such volume they were heard above the thunder. The steam pipes broke through the various cars, and steam and smoke arose from the wreck. Maimed and bleeding men, women and children, tried to climb through windows, doors and broken roofs of cars. The fell to the ground and mercifully lost consciousness. Others legs badly hurt, tried to pull them out of the debris in the utter darkness, stumbling over lifeless bodies, slipping in the mud, drenched with pouring rain.

For nearly an hour this continued. Rockport is a group of small houses. There seemed to be no help anywhere, no lights, no doctors. Luckily the last three cars had remained on the tracks, the occupants shaken and shocked but not seriously hurt. These alone saved the situation in the first hour.

Miss Gracie Weds Mr. Morehouse At Church Ceremony

Miss Gertrude Garcia, daughter of Mrs. Isabelle Garcia of 27 Sixth street, became the bride of Ernest F. Morehouse, son of Mrs. Jesse Morehouse, of 319 Barrett avenue, at one of the prettiest June weddings at the First Baptist church last evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. R. G. Poole, assisted by Dr. Thomas A. Boyer, before a large number of friends and relatives. Mrs. Ivan T. Conn, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Conn at 455 Thirty-seventh street, and shortly thereafter the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles. Upon their return north the newlyweds will reside in Richmond.

ARMY AVIATORS TO TRAIN OVER RICHMOND PORT

Ninth Corps Area Reserve Aviators Ask use of Richmond Field for Training

BETTER THAN CRISSEY FIELD

Night Flying Mail Planes And Army Machines to Participate In Air Meet

On behalf of the Ninth Corps area, United States army reserve fliers, Captain C. E. Giffen, commander of the reserve aviators, asked permission of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce yesterday to use the Richmond airfield next Saturday and Sunday for the training of the reserve aviators.

This is an indication that the long expected recognition of the Richmond airfield has been given by the United States government.

Army aviators of the Ninth Corps area under Captain Giffen, visited and inspected the Richmond field Sunday, and it was publicly stated by the visitors after their inspection that the air conditions at Richmond are better than they are at Crissey Field. In this connection it was pointed out that an aviator recently fell in the bay when attempting a flight from Crissey Field.

GOVERNMENT INTERESTED

These developments are believed by the Chamber of Commerce to indicate that the government is interested in transferring its air activities from Crissey Field to Richmond. The Ninth Corps area fliers will take part in the meet here on June 27 and 28.

O. C. Richardson, manager of the United States air mail service, of San Francisco, completed arrangements yesterday to have a mail plane equipped for night flying on exhibition at the local air congress. This machine is prevented by government rules from giving a demonstration of night flying, but a new mail plane just being completed by the Douglas Company at Santa Monica will be here and will give a night demonstration before it is placed in service, it was announced.

Machinery Set To Send Lethal Gas Murderer To Execution

(By Universal Service)

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—The machinery of the law that is expected to carry this city's most notorious murderer to the gallows began to grind today. Dr. Thomas W. Young, was indicted for the murder of his wife, Grace Young, by the Los Angeles county grand jury in record time, the hearing of four witnesses and the voting of the indictment coming within only two hours.

Chief in interest of those who testified was Miss Dorothy Leopold, of office assistant to the accused man, whose name has been mentioned frequently in the case. In her statement to the grand jury Miss Leopold denied there ever had been any sentiment between the "gas slayer" and herself.

"The letters he showed me fooled me completely," she declared. He said Mrs. Young had come east to divorce him.

She explained wearing one of the dead woman's diamond rings by saying it had been lent to her by Dr. Young, but that it had no sentimental significance. The pretty office assistant broke down as she left the jury room.

"I can't stand it," she sobbed. "The things they are saying about me."

Charles Patrick Crean, son of the slain woman, told the grand jury he had made a will recently in which he left his grandfather's millions to his stepmother.

"He has been kind to me always," said young Crean. "I was for him, and against my mother's people until recently. I believed in him and loved him."

Preparations were being made this afternoon by District Attorney Asa Kryes and his deputy, Harold Davis, to open Mrs. Young's safe deposit box in a hunt for missing jewelry. It is their belief that the killer has supported himself for several months by pawnning his wife's jewels and they expect to establish definite motive for the murder by a complete check of the dead woman's valuables.

Richmond Milk Dealers Prices Now Under Probe

Richmond milk dealers were charged with discrimination against local consumers in favor of outside buyers in the fixing of milk prices by Councilman G. E. Black, in a talk at the city council Monday night, and City Attorney D. J. Hall was appointed to make an investigation, although Hall announced that the city had no authority to regulate the prices.

Black said it had been brought to his attention that while some people in Richmond were charged 11 and 12 cents, and most consumers were paying 13 and 14 cents for milk, the same dealers were selling the same milk in Berkeley and Alameda county for 10 cents.

It was also brought out that milk brought in Richmond costs 13 cents and is bought and carried home at cents 14 cents, making it cheaper to have the milk delivered than to carry it home. Hall was instructed to ascertain what, if anything could be done toward equalizing the prices.

Bootleggers Are Caught at Sixteen Places

SAN JOSE, June 16.—Sweeping down without warning on 16 alleged drinking places and bootleg establishments in San Jose yesterday afternoon, 29 Federal operatives confiscated liquor worth $50,000, arrested more than a score of men and women and destroyed liquor worth thousands of dollars more.

Working under detailed plans elaborated by Captain Charles Goff, the raiders worked with clock-like precision. The raids were staged simultaneously at a "zero hour" previously arranged, and the Federal men moved so swiftly that the most elaborate precautions of the bootleg fraternity were rendered useless.

SIXTEEN RAIDS

The sound of screams and the thud of axes splitting open casks of wine mingled with oaths from arrested patrons and indignant proprietors.

Whiskies of various ages and degrees of excellence, champagnes, assorted liquors, and thousands of gallons of wine were seized in the 16 raids. More than a truck load of "evidence" was being carted away by guarded motor trucks from San Jose to San Francisco last night.

The remainder of the liquor was either destroyed on the spot or stored under U. S. supervision in government warehouses.

A speaker at the annual convention of American building owners and managers predicts 60-story buildings. He sets that limit because "it is now mechanically possible to go up 60 stories," and explains further:

"We are entering upon an era of greater development of our cities. The urban population is growing because of scientific farming methods which enable more food to be produced with less man-power. The man-power is therefore turning to the cities to enter business and industry. The American idea of concentrating its business activities, in relatively small areas has proved sound and will continue for many years. This means higher buildings."

Possibly the self-interest of those "building owners and managers" is father to the thought. The speaker makes no reference to something which is plain to many disinterested folk—that a decentralizing movement is setting in, tending to spread urban populations over larger areas and developing many small communities instead of one great community.

Modern transportation and communication makes this possible, and health and comfort demand it. The big metropolis too is losing efficiency, as well as charm and comfort, compared with the modern small city. The latter needs no 60-story buildings.

AMERICAN "CHAOS"

Former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Chicago thinks American politics and morals are in a very bad way. In a speech he says:

"No political party in America stands for any principle of liberty of man or justice of government. Only place and profit is the object of candidates for office. Men no longer respect the lessons of history or give regard to the personal rights of the citizen."

"Violation of law, from booze banditry to man murder, is the sport of the hour. This era of today in America has its counterpart in the era at Rome just before it fell to chaos and destruction, and in Russia just before it yielded to revolution and anarchy."

Can conditions be so dreadful as this? Or has a brilliant lawyer been lured into a one-sided statement of the case?

All the things he is so worried about are here—as tendencies. Also there are found here, spread through these United States, other tendencies of a very different character—unity, kindness, humanitarianism, intelligence, constructiveness, unselfish devotion—surprising volume and force, when you once look for them.

And which set of tendencies will dominate the other? We'll bet on the good ones.

TO AMUNDSEN'S AID

Amundsen is probably safe for the present, wherever he is, if he did not fall into the icy water of the Arctic Ocean or come to grief in landing. He had equipment and provisions with him for an extended siege. There is perhaps an even chance that he and his American companion are either traveling over Arctic ice or waiting for rescue.

It is without despair, therefore, that America makes ready to join Norway and France in relief efforts. And the method adopted by this country seems likely to succeed, if any success is possible.

The MacMillan party, with its three airplanes, will be diverted from its original purpose to seek Amundsen as soon as it has established its base at Etah, which may be remembered as the base of Cook and Peary, and which is not very far from Amundsen's intended course. With those planes they should be able to cover a wide area quickly. If one or two planes go wrong, there will still be hope. Amundsen's greatest error, if errors there were, consisted in putting all his hopes and chances in one plane.

DEAR BEER

Premier Ferguson of Ontario recently issued a warning to retailers selling the new 4.4 beer. It appears they have been charging too much for the beverage and the government has received an increasing number of complaints about the prices asked.

The premier threatens the withdrawal of licenses from vendors attempting to profiteer with the new drink.

These kicks about the price for Ontario's much-discussed beer sound to the disinterested ear a little like kicks about its potency. If the beer were really as satisfactory an alcoholic thirst-quencher as many persons think they want, very few of them would object to paying well for it. But not even reckless Americans want to pay fancy liquor prices for pop-strength beer.

A species of monkey in Asia goes to a stream to wash his teeth after eating, using a finger as a tooth brush.

A parasitic plant found in Borneo has blossoms 30 to 35 inches in diameter and buds as large as a man's head.

Parasols in Tempting Color and Design. Sign Lure Women to Forsake the Makin' for the Capricious in Clothes.

If parasols do not become an important item in the summer wardrobe, it will not be because they have not been offered in tempting and charming designs. At warm summer resorts, and at places where a shield and a fan and a spring sun-hat are worn, women have chosen with fondness for these capricious accessories.

Did you ever stop to think why it is that a parasol has ever been and remains one of the most flirtatious and feminine of accessories, while the umbrella, which is a more useful and practical article, is not? It is an interesting subject for speculation.

Some of the makers in Paris, who have been inventing a wide variety of the made-to-order or gray little parasols to be carried always with the small coat of summer hat.

Actors Injured in Filming Scenes at Richmond Theatre

During the filming of Joseph M. Schenck's superb production "Ashes of Vengeance," a First National picture starring Norma Talmadge, which is to be presented by Richmond theatre, today and tomorrow, Conway Tearle, who plays opposite the popular star in this massive historical romance, suffered a swollen arm due to six sword nicks he received in duelling scenes.

Tearle, however, got off easy, due to his superior swordsmanship. Seven minor players, not adept with the blade, were treated for wounds ranging from skin punctures to lacerations, received during the taking of a reproduction of a medieval massacre which is one of the big scenes in the picture. The fighting scenes were taken under the direction of Monsieur Henry Cavens of the National Military college of Brussels, Belgium, and under the supervision of Director Frank Lloyd.

"Ashes of Vengeance" is a spectacular romantic drama whose scenes are laid in France in the days of weak-willed Charles IX. Its stirring action and ecstatic love story are depicted in sets which for grandeur and magnificence beggar description. Three French chateaux, an entire portion of Paris, and a reproduction of the interior of the stupendous hall room of the Louvre, are sets which evoke admiration.

Other features on the same program include "Watch Your Pep," a Cameo comedy; "Prizma," a screen magazine.

"Zander The Great," Starring Pretty Marion Davies Starts at The California Theatre Today

MARION DAVIES in "ZANDER THE GREAT"

Marion Davies in her latest photoplay, "Zander the Great," will be the next attraction at the California theatre for two days, starting today.

As "Mamie," the heroine of this famous stage play, which was adapted for the screen by Frances Marion, Miss Davies charts a role that is said to place her in the very forefront of comedienne.

The entire play is based upon the search of "Mamie" for "Zander," father in the west, "Zander" being a tiny child played by a newcomer to the screen, little Jack Huff, a youngster of four who was discovered by Miss Davies.

Beginning with her childhood in an orphan asylum, and carrying her through a series of exciting episodes in the far west, "Zander the Great" provides Miss Davies with an opportunity for a whimsical, humorous characterization.

In the cast are the following players: Robert Bosworth, Harry Myers, Melbrook Blinn, Harry Watson, Jr.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

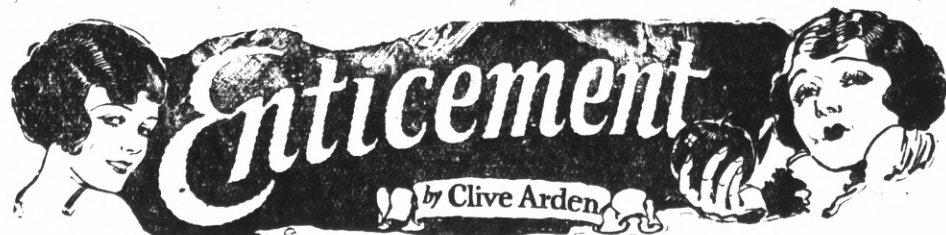

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish. When your kidneys get sluggish and stop you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent Rhine-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

CHAPTER III

Miss Caroline Dunne had been in eruption for a fortnight. Lava flowed all around Willerton. Lava flows are too provoking! Nobody considers anybody nowadays. Lack of consideration is the cancer at the root of society. That's why it's so rotten. . . .

"What's up?" Leo asked, when a pause occurred. She had been a trifle wary, lately, over intercourse with The Cottage. A year ago she would have danced into the danger zone, snapping careless fingers. But the thought of Harry, as well as Val, now restrained her. With her newly gained knowledge of middle-class outlook, she realized the impossibility of silencing malicious tongues with the truth. Filthy scandal thrown at Val's absent head was not to be borne. The gulf between Harry and herself must not be widened.

"Whenever I reason sensibly, the devil steps in," she reflected. "I'll leave it all to chance. . . ."

"A telegram from Katie Blake," Miss Dunne snorted brimstone. "She's had 'flu and wants to postpone our trip. And now I don't suppose she will come down here, after all."

"Oh! Leo could think of no other remark. Chance was certainly deciding the matter."

"I wanted you to meet each other. You have so much in common. She ought to have been more careful. To get 'flu just when our plans—"

"Er—have another cup of tea, Miss Dunne? Never mind. We may get another chance some time."

When her visitor had departed she drew a breath of relief, laughed, then sat down to an unfinished letter to Val.

These letters were becoming the only outlet for her nature. When shut up with pen and paper, pouring out her mind, she really lived. When immersed in the everyday events around a peculiar inertia pressed upon her spirits—a kind of lassitude. By every mail now she received a characteristically moody scrawl.

In due course the answer to her own first outpouring arrived. In this he was unusually discreet, almost pedantic. She knew nothing of the illumination brought to his imaginative mind by her words. She could not know of the hours of uncertainty, the wrestle between the two guardians of his soul, the amount of paper covered and burned, before he sought to heal, strangling the temptation that lay in his path.

"I bow before your husband. To have 'cracked the nut' and swallowed the kernel, without indignation. . . . Well! Well! But the achievement beyond motor cars is this! He has taught you the word 'Responsibility.' If I write these lines do know, O rebellious one, that peace can only be found in that word—dash! there's a blot. In the hey-day of youth I thought differently. Now, with the gray hairs of age, I perceive certain beauties hidden under its stoddiness. You weighed me down with its shackles at one time—I have never recovered. Now it's my turn! The whole meaning of life is 'giving out,' Leo. Haven't you discovered that? Else why are we here? Artists are but servants of their art, responsible for every discordant note or thought they allow to disfigure the world. And it's the same with your 'Business Men,' in more practical matters. And so, really? We are probably responsible for the actions of strangers who pass us in the street. A smile might turn away a man's thoughts from suicide; I have no fear of your falling into your 'Noah's Ark.' For the life of me I can't see why fleas were saved from the flood. But probably there was a reason. And so with 'Arnie's' (I'd love to see his 'Marcel Wave') Here ends the first and last sermon of Richard Valyan, Tenor. No it doesn't—damn this pen!—Leo, the two Reals are one. If a man's conscious life obscures the full realization of this, the knowledge is there, in his subconscious mind. A consuming work—whether art or mechanics or science—is, in a way, a curse, because it causes forgetfulness of all else. It is one of 'Dahus's' shadows. Perhaps you don't know 'Dahus'? Don't try to build bridges. Leap across 'gulfs' as you leaped across ravines in Switzerland! You used to be agile. What's the matter? . . ."

Leo laughed a little over this letter, the laughter akin to tears. Perhaps his hint was correct. She might be taking herself and her problems too seriously nowadays. A postscript, dashed across the corner of the last page, caused her to wonder:

"The world must keep 'do-tism' where," continued the voice whose hardness vibrated now with excitement. "It's an unusual type. And she actually let you talk?—never have the show away! Well! You have been had—all of you! And what about her husband?"

"I'm sure he knows nothing. Henry Wallis would never have married a—"

"Stop!" A new gleam came into "Sarah's" eye. She held up a forefinger, and stepped a little closer. "Didn't you tell me they married very suddenly? That it came as a shock to everybody? . . . And that was—"

"Early in August. But—"

"Ah! Now, we are getting at it." She stepped yet closer.

It was quite an hour before the telegram was sent for Carrie's hat. By that time Mrs. Kerry, Freda Dawes and Mrs. Bolton had joined the group, forming a compact squad, with heads almost interlocked.

Mrs. Bolton's tongue rolled lovingly along her lips. "I always said poor Henry Wallis had been taken in. Those stand-offish people are generally no better than they should be."

"I think it's simply disgusting!" cried Freda. "What will the Merleys say?—after calling too! And the Botreux-Barlingtons—won't they be mad?"

"I think Henry Wallis ought to know," Mrs. Bolton's hopes threw out new shoots. She met Mrs. Kerry's eye, and held it meaningfully with her own. "He shall know all right," said the glance between them.

"Arnie never liked her; nor did Tom," Mrs. Kerry felt proud of her men-folk's omniscience. She omitted Beville.

Rosalind felt rather afraid of this hornet's nest which she unwittingly had let loose upon Willerton. "Are you quite sure you are not mistaken, Katie? I thought her such a nice girl, though she will never make a good knitter. It will be such a scandal!"

"I'm positive," declared Mrs. Blake, in a tone that forbade doubt. "And you saw"—Mrs. Bolton always liked plenty of detail—"you actually saw them in the same bedroom? At midnight?"

"He was just going in. It was like this. . . . The squad closed up yet more tightly."

Only the heavy shower of rain that would have put out a house's conflagration at last separated the happy gathering. But this kind of conflagration is not put out by rain. It rain merely nourishes its blaze indoors, over tenebrous.

Leo hurried home, not realizing the full extent of her danger—the ever-widening circle that this stone might produce in her life's pool. She only felt a seething indignation over the unmistakable construction which shone in Mrs. Blake's small eyes.

The whirl of Harry's car scattered her faint idea of hurrying back to Mrs. Blake. He brought with him the polished Milne for an early dinner before going to the bridge club. Deciding that the least must stir the better, until Caroline and Rosalind returned, Leo dismissed the matter for the time being.

The next morning Harry seemed unusually silent at breakfast, and several times Leo found his glance directed upon herself with an intentness she failed to understand.

Harry was due at a meet that morning. He seemed to Leo to be strangely loath to start. He loitered about the hall, picked up newspapers and threw them down again; played with the dogs. And ever and anon she met that puzzled intent glance fixed upon herself.

On the door-step he paused again, tapping his boot with his riding-crop.

"Won't you be late?" she suggested.

"Er—yes. . . . I'm just off. . . . But once more, when in the saddle, he hesitated. Finally, when she thought he had started, he turned the horse's head and came back to the door."

"Leo?"

"You . . . I suppose you will be in when I get back?"

She came down the steps and caressed the animal's nose. "Probably. Why?"

"I . . . We . . . I only want to talk to you about—something. Nothing much. Really it's nothing. . . . But . . ."

This insistence upon the matter's lack of importance, in face of his evident anxiety, raised Leo's curiosity. "I must attend a meeting at the golf club later. You will be in?" The intoneness of his clear gray eyes urged her compliance. She nodded.

He smiled down, almost apologetically. "Really—it's nothing," he insisted again, as if to reassure himself, not her. Then he turned and trotted quickly away. . . .

Mercantiles Tighten Hold On First Place

The Mercantile Trust company ball club finished the 1925 City Twilight league season in a most fitting manner last night by defeating the El Cerrito Merchants by a 14 to 7 score.

However, for a few innings it appeared as though things were not going to be so fitting. At the end of the fourth inning the score stood 7 to 2 in favor of the Merchants and said Merchants were thereby highly elated. But in the fifth and sixth the Mercantile decided that they would not care to be walloped so they made 4 and 6 runs in the respective innings and one more in the seventh.

A total of 21 safe hits of varied length and basic values. Hansen made a homer for the winners and Krow duplicated for the losers. Three batters and doubles were there in abundance also, while singles were to numerous to mention.

A diversified array of pitchers also appeared before the public. Gomez, erstwhile phenomenon, who is going to the Seals, lasted an inning and a half, in the onslaught of the Merchants, McCarron relieved him and he was in turn replaced by Lawson. For the losers, Camp and Offcamp, and Sunseri went to the box, tossed a few and hid themselves to the showers.

By this victory the Mercantile clinched the pennant almost. There are about 9 postponed games to be played. Either the Richards Radios or the Schneider Tailors can tie the Bankers first place by winning three games and losing none.

The play each other twice, so only one of them has a chance.

The fans who wend their way to First street ball park this evening will have an opportunity of resting their eyes on what is expected to be a real ball game. The Barrel House and the All Standards are to cross bats for honors in the Standard Oil League. Both teams have an average of 500 in the league, having won and lost two games each. This will decide which team is the rightful possessor of second place.

On Thursday evening the Merchants and the Refinery will contend for diamond supremacy.

RAGS WANTED—Record-Herald

Jersey City, N. J.—"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull, whose letter goes on to say, "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach, until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of sour gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can." At all Druggists.

TUBERCULOSIS OVERCOME

Oakland, Calif.
April 25, 1925.
For about three years I suffered from a bad cough and sore chest. I tried many doctors, all of whom pronounced my case Tuberculosis. My spittle was examined and showed tubercular germs. As I found no improvement from the treatments that I took, I decided to give the FONG WAN HERB a test, as a last resort.

After having drunk the herbs for four months, I was a well woman and had gained in weight. A year has elapsed since I began to take the FONG WAN HERB on April 15, 1924, and today, I am still well and have no sign of my former complaints.

FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

Giovanni Allinio was laid at rest in St. Joseph's cemetery yesterday morning following services held at St. Ambrose Catholic church in Berkeley. Arrangements were in charge of Bert Curry. Deceased was 111 years of age and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Allinio of El Cerrito.

SPEEDERS PAY FINES

Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday imposed a fine of $25 each on H. A. Swearingen and C. A. Weiss, both of Richmond, on charges of speeding.

STATE HEALTH
OFFICIAL TALKS
AT LIONS CLUB

The medical profession was strongly defended against health fads and the results of preventive medicine as related to infant mortality, general public health and the discovery of specific preventives for contagious diseases were dealt with by Dr. J. H. Kellogg of the State Board of Health in a talk before the Richmond Lions club yesterday. H. L. Carpenter was the chairman of the day.

A talk was also given by F. H. Beckman, business specialist, on personality in business. Major Cole, of the Salvation Army called attention to the coming drive for funds for the organization. In the absence of President J. I. Collins, Councilman E. J. Garrard, vice-president of the club, presided.

The club voted $50 to send girl reserves to this year's camp, at the suggestion of Attorney T. N. Calfee. A hundred dollars has already been raised toward the $1700 goal for the benefit of the Boy Scouts. It was announced.

Local Property
Sold for $33250

Matt Hogan of Oakland has paid $33,250 for the one-story brick building at the southwest corner of Twelfth street and Macdonald avenue, owned by the Jammerthal estate. The building was sold by the public administrator of San Francisco county. Hogan also owns considerable other property here.

Road Work

commission will also have a tidy sum to spend during the biennium. Cash on hand July 1 of this year will approximate $2,300,000, previous Federal Aid allotments yet uncollected stand at $1,200,000, additional or new Federal Aid become available on July 1 of this year in the sum of approximately $4,900,000, a total of $11,400,000 to be available for new construction. New construction contracts are already in force in the sum of $3,200,000, leaving $8,200,000 available for further new construction up to June 30, 1927.

An analysis of funds for the two fiscal years, or up to July 1, 1927, for construction, as well as reconstruction and maintenance, from all sources, is taken in detail from the accounting records of the commission and show as follows:

FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION
Cash on hand, $2,300,000
Federal Aid now available, 4,200,000
Additional Federal Aid, 4,900,000
TOTAL, $11,400,000

The sum total of new contracts now in force is enumerated above.

GAS TAX ASSETS
It is necessary, in estimating the receipt of gas and motor vehicle funds, to project into the future. No person can absolutely determine the amount which will be collected, but the experts in the engineering department of the commission believe that from the data at hand there will be for expenditure the sum set out below:

2c gas tax due in November 1925, $4,000,000
Gas Tax for the year 1926, 7,800,000
May 1 payment for 1927, 5,674,000
TOTAL, $17,474,000
There will be cash on hand as of July 1, 1925, $2,300,000. Good business dictates that this cash balance should also be a reserve balance as of July 1, 1926, and July 1, 1927, and on from time to time during the biennium periods.

The real amount, therefore, for reconstruction and maintenance from this particular fund would be $15,174,000.

MOTOR VEHICLE FEES
Computations made as carefully as is possible indicate that there will be collected from this source:
For the year 1925, $3,150,000
For 1926, 3,750,000
TOTAL, $6,900,000
which also becomes available for construction and maintenance. This

LARGE NUMBER

H. H. Stoddard, 3131 Russell street, Berkeley, $25, speeding; R. Cooper, 1812 Fairview street, Berkeley, $10; C. Fredenburg, 1917 Herman street, Berkeley, $10, speeding; J. M. Wailes, Mare Island, $5, speed; E. Krazen, 293 Santa Clara avenue, Oakland, $10, speeding; A. G. Bender, 1543 Virginia street, Berkeley, $25, speeding; J. E. Prescott, 616 Mission street, San Francisco, speeding; W. N. Brayton, 469 Lakeside street, Pasadena, cutting in, C. M. Rice, 164 Elbert street, San Francisco speeding, were arrested and cited to appear before Justice John Roth on June 29.

Powerful Film
From Popular
Play at Wesley

Seeing "The Little Church Around the Corner," which will be shown at the Wesley church, corner Ninth street and Nevin avenue, Friday evening, will be worth while, for it is an entertainment of rare pleasure, a picture drama of the type that comes about once in a blue moon.

The worth-whileness is due to the fact that some of the important actions in this Warner Brothers production take place in a mining town—and so well is it reproduced that the illusion is perfect; you have the spirit of the strikers dramatically rendered, the mining district, streets and mines; it is all done so vividly that you think the cameraman had waited for a miners' strike before proceeding to take the picture.

Praise for the masterly mob scenes is due William Selter, who directed. Never before has the spirit of the mob in its ugly moods been so finely rendered on screen.

The supporting cast, a strong one, is made up of such well known actors as Kenneth Harlin, Hobart Bosworth, Walter Long, Alec Francis, George Cooper, Margaret Seddon, Winter Hall, Cyril Chadwick and Pauline Stark.

sum, in addition to $15,174,000, results in a grand total of $22,674,000 for reconstruction and maintenance during the biennium period. Of this approximately $6,000,000 is now under work orders for maintenance and other expenditures during the year 1923.

The totals quoted above show that for all purposes of highway work there will be a total of $34,074,000 available during the 77th and 78th fiscal years, of which sum there is now under contract and work orders $9,225,000.

From these figures it is apparent that there will be available for highway work of all kinds $24,849,000 in addition to sums allocated to work now authorized.

Good Fellowship
Told Of Ways Of Civic Betterment

That there is plenty to be done for the good of the community if the residents will only look around and see what can be done, was declared by Dr. S. T. Himes, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, in a strong appeal before the members of the Goodfellowship club of the First Presbyterian church last night.

Dr. Himes talked on the cooperation of men in both church and civil work, and of the untold ways that both may be aided.

D. McLachlan, who has recently arrived in Richmond from Glasgow, Scotland, was the soloist, and he rendered two beautiful selections, accompanied at the piano by Miss Dorothy Rector.

The dinner was cooked and served by the ladies of the church, under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. M. Bullock.

Coroner Sued For
$3,000 in Jewelry

Claiming ownership of $3,000 worth of jewelry in the possession of its salesman, James H. Lasker, 54, when he died suddenly at a Pittsburg hotel on April 22, The Rothschild Jewelry company of San Francisco yesterday filed suit against Coroner C. P. Donnelly, Deputy Coroner Joe Culliton and the administrator of Lasker's estate asking delivery of the jewelry to them. The coroner refused to deliver the jewelry without a court order after it is understood.

the administrator of the estate had also made demand for it. The officials wanted ownership fixed by the court so it would be turned over to the proper party.
